Richardson: 'It's For People to Judge'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elliot L. Richardson said today the ultimate judgment on the Watergate crisis must be made by the American people. He said he is not the man to pass judgment on the question of whether President Nixon should be impeached.

While he made no direct reply to the impeachment question at a nationally televised news conference, the former attorney general said he believes in the goals and priorities of the administration, particularly in foreign policy.

Richardson recounted the negotiations, deadlock and presidential orders that led him to resign Saturday rather than fire Archibald Cox as special prosecutor in the Watergate case.

He said those events, too, are matters to be judged by the people, and that the fairness with which they are judged may determine the future well-being and security of the nation.

Richardson said he does not believe the President is now or will be in direct violation of a court order for his refusal to yield White House tape recordings, although the courts have instructed him to do so.

Richardson's farewell appearance at the Department of Justice began amid the applause and cheers of the staff he had headed for some five months.

Later came the direct question: Does Richardson believe the President should be impeached?

Richardson replied by noting that he served the administration in varying roles since Nixon took office. "I believe in the directors and priorities of the administration," he said.

"I regard as particularly important the role of the President of the United States, President Richard Nixon, in dealing with international problems," he said.

As for events in the Watergate case which have led to congressional demands for an impeachment move, Richardson said only:

"I do not believe that I am a person . . . who should try to pass judgment on them."

In his opening discussion of the case, Richardson did not criticize the President.

At stake in the controversy, Richardson said, is the integrity of government that "I came to the Justice Department to help restore."

Richardson said the case became one of deadlock between Nixon's insistence on the principle of confidentiality of presidential conversations, and his own assurances that Cox would be unfettered in the Watergate investigation.

"The rest is for the American people to judge," he said. "On the fairness with which you do so may well rest the future well-being and security of our beloved country."

Richardson and President Nixon met for a half-hour Monday afternoon, according to a White House spokesman, but the contents of that discussion were not revealed.

Meanwhile, Richardson huddled with aides in preparation for a news conference today and Acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork asserted "ultimate authority and responsibility" over the Watergate case.

Richardson returns to the Justice Department's Great Hall for his first public statement after resigning an office he held only five months rather than obey President Nixon's command to fire special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Sources close to Richardson said he would refrain from a personal attack on the President he has served in three Cabinet posts.

Solicitor General Bork, who became acting attorney general after William D. Ruckelshaus was fired from the No. 2 position for refusing to fire Cox, promised vigorous pursuit of the Watergate investigation.

He placed Assistant Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen "in direct charge of the Watergate case and all related matters previously being directed by the special prosecutor."

Justice Department spokesmen said Petersen has agreed to resume command of an investigation when Cox's office was established. Petersen has been unavailable for comment.

ELLIOT RICHARDSON

WILL THERE BE TWO? The possibility exists that for the second time in the history of the United States, Congress will seriously consider impeaching a president to remove him from office. Andrew Johnson (L), the 17th president, was impeached in 1868, but the Senate failed by one vote to muster the two-thirds vote required for conviction. President Nixon's dismissal of Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox and Nixon's decision to ignore a court order to release tapes of his Watergate conversations have caused Congress to consider this drastic step. ## 'Hideous Costs' For Firing of Cox

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's constitutional lawyer said today the President paid "hideous costs" by firing Archibald Cox as special Watergate prosecutor but said it was necessary.

The lawyer, Charles Alan Wright, helped prepare a "response of the President" to federal Judge John J. Sirica this morning, arguing that a proposed compromise on the Watergate tapes issue—which Cox refused to accept—fulfilled requirements set earlier by Sirica.

Prior to the court session, Wright was asked in an interview about the cost to the Presidency of abolishing the office of special prosecutor.

"There are hideous costs; anybody has to realize that," Wright said on the NBC-TV Today Show. But there would have been greater costs in allowing to stay in office an employee of the executive branch who will not accept direction from his superiors."

Sirica, the presiding judge at the trial last January of the original seven Watergate defendants, last month ordered Nixon to hand over tapes of his Watergate conversations with aides to the judge for personal screening.

An appeals court upheld the Sirica order on Oct. 12, but urged the White House and Cox to try to effect a compromise.

Cox was fired Saturday after refusing to accept a White House proposal whereby written accounts of the conversations in question would be provided Cox and the Senate Watergate committee.

Wright was asked if Nixon had not violated a pledge April 30 to give Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson, who resigned after refusing to carry out the firing of Cox, full and absolute authority to make all decisions in the Watergate case.

"Yes, yes, he did," Wright replied. "But I think one has to view that in some context. . . . At the time that Attorney General

Richardson was appointed, and most particularly at the time that Attorney General Richardson and Mr. Cox made representations to the Senate, Presidential tapes were not an issue.

"Neither Mr. Richardson nor Mr. Cox knew there were such tapes. They were an issue that didn't surface until July 16." That was the day a former White House aide told the Watergate committee that secret tapes were made of all major presidential conversations.

During Richardson's confirmation hearings as attorney general, he testified that he would give Cox full independence in pursuing the Watergate investigation. It was this pledge that Richardson cited in resigning Saturday after refusing a Nixon order to fire Cox.

Wright said the arrangement Nixon proposed to resolve the tapes issue without going to the Supreme Court represented an order to decide whether there "tremendous concession" by any presidential complicity.

With respect to what the written accounts would contain, Wright — key presidential negotiator in efforts late last week to get a White House compromise — said they would include exact words of conversations involving Watergate, except for possible deletion of "pungent" remarks.

Conversations involving other matters not related to Watergate would be summarized, Wright said.

Nixon had refused in the past to provide more than summaries of all the conversations. Saying that the tapes issue of a cover-up as early as Sept. 15, 1972, Nixon said the first he knew of any cover-up was when Dean told him last spring.

Wright said of the proposed White House compromise, "I have no doubt that the answer will be favorable to the President and I think the confrontation, and he was integrity of Sen. Stennis is such a concession . . . in order to put question that they are getting this issue once and for all behind us."

Mideast War Defies the Cease-Fire

By United Press International

Israel and Egypt resumed the 1973 Middle East war today, blaming each other for the breakdown of a short-lived cease-fire by Egyptian forces in the Sinai Peninsula and the Soviet Union.

Syria, which never agreed to the cease-fire, accused Israel of launching air and artillery attacks on the northern front.

Both Israel and Egypt reported the outbreak of full-scale fighting along the 102-mile-long Suez Canal this morning less than 16 hours after the shaky cease-fire began.

The Israeli command said its tanks and warplanes went on the attack today "following the consistent violation of the cease-fire by Egyptian forces during the night and this morning."

"Our planes are attacking Egyptian troop concentrations on both sides of the canal and Israeli armor forces are attacking the Egyptian dispositions west of the canal," a spokesman said.

The Egyptian military command said the all-out fighting began when "enemy tanks and forces opened fire in several sectors of the front in violation of the cease-fire resolution."

The Cairo command said "our forces returned the fire" and battles were raging at mid-morning along the waterway.

"Enemy planes bombed our positions west of the canal and this is regarded as another violation of the cease-fire," Egypt said.

Israel reported "numerous clashes" with Egyptian forces along the canal since the truce went into effect Monday evening on the 17th day of the fourth Middle East war in 25 years.

A military spokesman in Damascus said an estimated 60 Israeli warplanes bombed civilian targets north of the Syrian capital today and clashed with Arab jets in numerous dogfights. He reported 11 Israeli aircraft shot down in the clashes.

A Syrian communique said Israeli artillery and warplanes "this morning shelled the village of Arna and surrounding villages on the eastern slopes of Mt. Hermon." There were no reports of casualties or damages.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger returns from three-day trip in search of Mideast peace. Story page 7.

Israel issued three military communiqués in quick succession this morning reporting "numerous clashes" on the southern front during the pre-dawn hours.

"Egyptian forces are incessantly continuing to violate the cease-fire and are fighting in the southern sector of the Suez area," the last communique said. "In view of the aforesaid, Israel forces have been ordered to continue fighting in this sector."

Iraq, one of a half-dozen Arab nations that sent contingents to join in the fighting, had turned down the cease-fire. Jordan, however, said it would go along with the truce. Some Jordanian troops had been fighting in Syria, but there has been no combat along the Jordanian-Israeli border.

The Palestine Liberation Organization, the umbrella group for guerrillas fighting Israel, attacked the cease-fire and vowed "to continue the armed struggle against the Zionist entity."

Israel and Egypt blamed each other for sporadic clashes soon after the cease-fire went into effect Monday evening following a U.N. Security Council resolution calling for an end to the fighting.

The council approved a joint U.S.-Soviet resolution early Monday providing for a cease-fire "in place" and negotiations between the warring nations aimed at establishing "a just and durable peace" in the region.

Israel said its forces were holding about 475 square miles of Egyptian territory along the west bank of the Suez Canal, including three airfields, and 300 square miles of Syrian land. It said Israeli troops were within 37 miles of Cairo and 22 miles of Damascus.

Israel reported ousting all Arab troops from the Golan Heights, but conceded Egyptian soldiers were holding about 250 square miles of the Sinai Peninsula along the east bank of the canal.

U.N. delegates worked privately today in an attempt to create machinery to police a cease-fire. Diplomatic sources said one hitch was Chinese opposition to the United States and Soviet Union serving on a peace-keeping force.

'Dangerous Conditions' at Kingston High

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON Kingston High School has been closed indefinitely because of "sudden structural cracks" in the foundation of the large, two-story Vocational Building on Broadway.

Students were sent home at 9 a.m. today. William Turcotte, associate superintendent of education, said school will remain closed until architects and engineers can determine whether the building is safe for occupation.

The Vocational Building is located next to the main high school building. It was constructed in two phases between 30 and 35 years ago. The structural cracks have occurred where the newer section has been joined with the old section. The first inkling of structural troubles occurred late last week when a wall buckled in a first floor darkroom of the Vocational Building, showering students inside the room with small particles of plaster and cement. The room was immediately evacuated.

The building was reportedly inspected on Friday and again on Saturday. Monday was a school holiday, but the decision was made to continue with all normal classes today.

But another inspection of the building this morning by Kingston architect Christos Larios, and his subsequent recommendation that the building not be used prompted school district officials to suspend classes for the remainder of the day.

According to Turcotte, there are approximately 30 classrooms in the Vocational Building. An estimated 600 students use the building during the course of a school day.

But Turcotte said it would be virtually impossible to reshuffle all the Vocational Building classes into the main high school on such short notice. For that reason, all the high school students were sent home.

Turcotte said that attempts will be made today to revise schedules and classroom assignments so that all the students can be moved into the high school building. He said that if the shuffling is successful, classes could conceivably be resumed on Wednesday.

A visual inspection of the Vocational Building today revealed a sizeable crack in wall along the first-floor main hallway of the building. The crack was between six and eight feet long and about a quarter of an inch wide.

On the opposite side of the side of the building was a wall, in the darkroom of the photography department, chunks of plaster were scattered on the floor. They apparently fell from the ceiling.

One school employee said that a small crack had extended about halfway through the building on Friday. By today, it had reached to the other side.

On the north side of the Vocational Building (facing Broadway), one side of the building has settled three or four inches deeper into the ground than the other side.

It was also reported, but unofficially, that a retaining wall on the West O'Reilly Street side of the Vocational Building is structurally weakened. The west side of the Vocational Building is perched on a six-foot embankment.

Today's incident has reaffirmed the district's position that a new high school is desperately needed. Although no structural weaknesses have been found in the main building, it is considerably older than the Vocational Building, and district officials and school board members have stressed the need for a complete interior renovation of the high school.

Both to strengthen the building and to devise a more efficient use of space.

In the meantime, the school board continues its search for an acceptable site for a new high school, which they say must be built before any extensive work can be done on the present building.

Koenig, Officials Laud Our Veterans

KINGSTON

Mayor Francis R. Koenig, speaking at the Kingston Veterans Association Veterans Day services at the Veterans Memorial at the Old City Hall, said that Veterans Day is more than a holiday, that it should be a day of thanksgiving in memory of those who have paid the "supreme sacrifice" in the nation's wars.

Alderman Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward), preceded Koenig, noting the "fine job" the KVA has done with the Veterans Memorial site which the city donated to them last year. "This is just a small token of the city's appreciation to the men who gave the supreme sacrifice," Quick said.

The Rev. Thomas Smoot of the Trinity United Methodist Church gave the invocation and benediction before a gathering of about 50 persons.

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. was the invited guest speaker but was unable to attend due to a previous commitment in Poughkeepsie. Fish's representative, John J. Naccarato, presented the veterans a flag that had flown over the capitol.

Participating in the flag presentation ceremonies were Koenig, Ben Golnick, president of the KVA, Joseph Sills, this year's Veteran's Day chairman and Joseph Sullivan, commandant of the Ulster County Chapter of the Marine Corps League.

Headquarters Battery of 156th Field Artillery fired a salute to deceased veterans and Peter Ferraro of Musicians Union Local 215 played taps.

New Grant for Ulster Community Action

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — A "New money" grant in the form of a $29,890 grant for Ulster County Community Action has been announced by Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th Dist.).

The grant is for a three-month period beginning Nov. 1 and will make possible extension of the life of the Community Action program which was scheduled to end Nov. 30.

Saugerties Dems Present Program

SAUGERTIES — Saugerties Democrats offered a 10-point program for the town Monday at a press conference held at Democratic Headquarters on Partition Street.

Heading the list was a call for "a public hearing on the Saugerties road situation one month after we take office." The candidates suggest that a frank and open discussion of several plans be held and then a quick decision once those plans have been reviewed.

Candidate for supervisor Paul Miller described the second proposal which calls for an early formulation of a town master plan and quick enactment of a comprehensive zoning ordinance.

"If necessary," he said, "we will enlarge the Planning Board and Zoning Commission to insure a backlog of work will be cleaned up quickly."

Miller and Democratic Town Chairman Maurice Hinchey Jr. said the present composition of the boards, particularly the zoning board "worries us."

Hinchey described the present composition as being "stacked against the people and stacked for contractors and dealers in equipment and building supplies."

They suggested that as vacancies occur on the boards they will urge appointment of new members in such a way as to assure a good cross-section of town residents. For example, one each from industry, clergy, retail trade, education, senior citizen age group and one wage earner from an upper and lower income group.

Still another proposal aired was to arrange for radio and televised broadcasts of town board meetings.

On hand for the press conference was Frank Sinnott, candidate for County Legislature in Dist. 1 (Saugerties); Alphonse Ferrara, candidate for superintendent of highways; Trudy Lee, candidate for town councilman and Nancy Ciaffone, candidate for town clerk.

The Democrats said they would also endorse establishment of a bi-partisan citizens' committee to explore the possibility of consolidating certain town and village operations such as landfill and police agencies in order to effect savings and efficiencies. The committee would report its findings and recommendations within a year.

The candidates would also encourage use of cable television to stimulate interest in the work of the Saugerties Environmental Conservation Commission and initiate an immediate program to educate the public concerning the pros and cons of nuclear power plants and the possible hazards for the people of Saugerties.

They would also set up a watchdog committee to "insure no bureaucratic delays hinder speedy progress of plans for sewage disposal", would make town office hours more convenient to the public including Friday nights and Saturdays and encourage quarterly reports to the town board from citizens committees in various communities in Saugerties.

READY FOR IMPEACHMENT INQUIRY — Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J. (R) chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, was expected to announce that his panel is prepared to start a broad inquiry into whether there are grounds for impeachment hearings against President Nixon, a plan sought by Speaker of the House Carl Albert. The Albert plan, if backed by a majority of Democrats, would blunt a move by Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., (L). Waldie planned to introduce a measure to impeach Nixon on grounds of obstruction of justice, based mainly on the firing of Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox and Nixon's refusal to supply full access to the Watergate tapes. ## Mitchell, Stans Trial... Judge to Make Decision

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal judge is expected to announce today whether the conspiracy trial of John N. Mitchell and Maurice Stans will be adjourned until Jan. 7. Federal prosecutors asked that the trial for the former cabinet officers be adjourned because of President Nixon's refusal to provide a tape recording of a conversation with John W. Dean III, a former aide. Judge Lee Gagliardi ruled last week that Nixon will have to release the tape or Dean could be barred from testifying. The conversation took place on April 15. Dean is said to have asked for immunity against prosecution in exchange for testimony in the Watergate investigation. The trial for Mitchell and Stans was to have started today. It was learned, however, that it will be postponed, although for how long is not known. Mitchell, former attorney

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress is undecided about whether to begin impeachment proceedings against President Nixon although there is widespread disapproval of his firing of Watergate Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox, a UPI poll indicated today.

Republicans, who might normally be expected to rally to the President, showed greater indecision than Democrats, and some normally key GOP Nixon supporters said they would withhold judgment until after more facts are in.

Although more members of the House and Senate favored the start of impeachment proceedings than opposed it, about half of those contacted indicated they were undecided about what to do.

A substantial number of congressmen, including many of those who opposed impeachment proceedings, registered disagreement with Nixon's decision to discharge Cox. A number of Republicans said they felt Nixon's actions were wrong, but were insufficient to warrant impeachment.

All House and Senate members who could be contacted—more than half of both bodies—were asked: "Would you favor the beginning of impeachment proceedings against the President?"

In the House, which would have to initiate any impeachment proceedings, 65 favored the idea (59 Democrats and six Republicans), 50 were opposed (13 Democrats and 37 Republicans) and 107 were undecided (49 Democrats and 58 Republicans).

In the Senate, which would try any articles of impeachment brought by the House, 19 were in favor (17 Democrats and two Republicans), 11 were opposed (two Democrats and nine Republicans) and 35 were undecided (19 Democrats and 16 Republicans).

The two Republican senators favoring impeachment proceedings are Sens. Clifford Case of New Jersey and Edward Brooke of Massachusetts. The GOP House members in favor are Reps. Paul McCloskey, Calif., Richard Mallary, Vt., Charles Whalen, Ohio, Lawrence Williams, Pa., Joshua Eilberg, Pa., and Alan Steelman, Tex.

The patterns of support and opposition for impeachment did not always follow normal political patterns.

For instance, Rep. Barber Conable, R-N.Y., with the strongest record of support for Nixon programs in the House, said that although he did not favor impeachment proceedings now, Congress should form a committee of inquiry to determine whether impeachment is appropriate.

A good portion of the undecided said they would prefer to wait for U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica to determine whether Nixon will be charged with contempt.

A worry for some Republicans was that the furor over the tapes would block the nomination of Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., to become vice president.

$2 Million in Milk Funds Linked to Nixon Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — New evidence has surfaced tying President Nixon to an alleged deal involving a pledge of $2 million in campaign money in exchange for administration favors for the dairy industry. Investigative sources said Monday they have obtained a letter addressed to Nixon on Dec. 16, 1970, reminding him of the industry's past support and telling him of the milk producer's need for immediate aid. The letter was written, the sources said, by Pat Hillings of the Associated Milk Producers Inc., the major industry group. The Associated Press has confirmed the letter's contents from four separate sources. "The thrust of the letter was a request that the President approve new milk tariffs that the industry was interested in," one source said. "It pointed out that the industry had $2 million available for 1972 campaign contributions," but continued aid for the nation's dairy farmers was necessary if they were to continue their support.

The Hillings letter noted that it was bringing up a "sensitive political matter," the sources said, and evidence indicates it went directly to then-presidential chief of staff H. R. Halde- man. One source said it isn't certain whether Nixon read the letter or was merely told of its contents.

The following March, however, three events took place: —On March 22, 1971, the first $10,000 contribution from milk producers was secretly delivered to a group of dummy campaign committees that later turned their holdings over to the Nixon re-election campaign.

—The following day, President Nixon and then-Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin met at the White House with 16 spokesmen for the dairy industry.

—On March 25, Hardin reversed a decision not to grant an increase in federal price supports for milk and announced approval of a 27-cent-per-hundredweight hike in price supports, claiming he had received new economic data.

The decision was worth between $500 million and $700 million to the nation's milk producers, according to an industry estimate.

The secret campaign contributions later revealed by The Washington Post and federal investigators, poured into the dummy committees and Nixon campaign coffers for many months, eventually reaching more than $400,000.

On Feb. 1, 1972, a Haldeman aide, Gordon Strachan, wrote a memo to his boss reporting that the President's personal attorney and fund raiser, Herbert W. Kalmbach, "is very concerned about his involvement in the milk producers situation." Strachan recommended that Kalmbach be relieved from his assignment "because of the risk of disclosures."

The milk-funds case was a long issue being investigated by Archibald Cox before he was fired as special Watergate prosecutor. The investigations now have been turned over to the Justice Department. But they remain partially blocked by Nixon's orders.

Congress Remains Undecided

Nader to Seek Injunction

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader is going to court to seek an injunction to void President Nixon's firing of Watergate Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Nader's lobbying group, Public Citizen, said it would challenge Nixon's action on grounds the regulations by former Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson creating Cox's investigative unit specified he could be removed only "for extraordinary improprieties."

On Nixon's action, Nader said:

"The nation is confronted with a man who has consciously authorized crimes, condoned crimes, committed crimes, and now overthrown the legal arrangement which was working to prosecute these crimes fairly and with due process of law."

"When that man is President, such behavior is more than criminal, it is tyrannical; it is more than madness, it is subversion of our government of laws and a plain usurpation of the Constitution."

According to Nader, Acting Attorney General Robert Bork did not have legal authority to carry out Nixon's order to fire Cox since the Senate has not confirmed Bork.

"Bork is limited in his powers until he is confirmed by the Senate," Nader said.

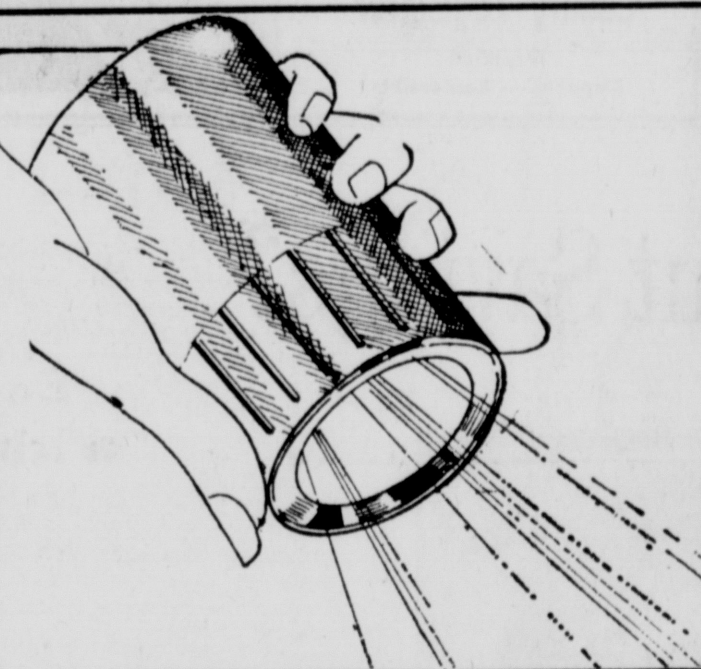

The suit, to be filed in U.S. District Court today, also says Bork acted "under pressure" because he would have been dismissed if he had not fired Cox.

At a news conference Monday, Nader urged the public to support a move to impeach Nixon.

"It is time for Americans to vigorously, individually and collectively, press their representatives and senators to invoke the impeachment process and power and fire the man who has disgraced, misused and criminalized his office and its awesome powers," Nader said.

Three Americans Dead As Freighter Capsizes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Coast Guard today said the search has been suspended for the last of six persons, three of them Americans, who died when a freighter caught fire and capsized 800 miles off the East Coast.

The USS Hayes, an oceanographic research vessel, rescued 35 crewmen and one passenger from the stricken vessel, the Eurygenes, which "burned right up," a Coast Guard spokesman said. A spokesman for P. D. Marchessini & Co. of London, husband, a doctor, was missing, he said. The only other passenger on the ship was Mrs. Lester's husband, Thomas, who was reported safe. The fire started Sunday night in the ship's No. 3 hold, which carried "general cargo," the company spokesman said.

The Canadian Coast Guard first learned of it and radioed the U.S. Coast Guard in New York. A plane from Halifax, N.S., and a U.S. Coast Guard plane from Elizabeth City, N.C., were dispatched to the scene.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Coast Guard, using its Mutual Assistance Vessel Rescue system, determined that the Japanese freighter Layman, the Navy's Hayes and the luxury liner Michelangelo were in the area and ordered them to the scene of the sinking ship.

The Hayes arrived first, at about 2 a.m. Monday, and plucked the 36 survivors from their lifeboats, the spokesman said. The other two ships stood by. The refrigerator ship left New York for London Oct. 19.

Derelict Burned to Death, Boys, 13 and 12, Are Held

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Three boys, two 13 and one 12, have been charged with first-degree murder in the death of a derelict who was doused with lighter fluid and set afire.

Officers said the boys, whose names were withheld, admitted setting fire to Charles Scales, 38, as he slept off a wine drunk behind an abandoned building Saturday night.

The boys also were charged Monday with two counts of assault with intent to commit murder for setting fire to two other men, officers said. Police said they knew of a fourth man assaulted by the trio.

Police gave this account of the incident:

The boys, all of whom have long records of vandalism, larceny, burglary, robbery and narcotics possession, bought or stole several cans of lighter fluid from a neighborhood store.

Their first victim was a cat. They soaked the animal with lighter fluid and then watched it burn to death. A short time later they set fire to an unidentified drunk who managed to beat out the flames and shuffle away.

The boys then wandered down the street to a restaurant, where they tossed lighter fluid on J.B. Blackburn, 50, as he left a back door. Blackburn said the youngsters threw a lit match at him and fled down an alley as he pulled off his shirt and beat out the flames.

The youths next entered an alley where Emmett Spratling, 53, was lying on a discarded table top and Scales was sleeping on a bench.

Officers said Spratling told them he and Scales had been drinking wine and had settled down to sleep when they were attacked.

The boys set both men afire and ran away. Spratling managed to beat out the flames that flared round his head, but by the time Scales woke and rushed out of the alley, his clothing and large sections of flesh had been burned.

Spratling suffered only minor injuries. Scales died in a hospital 10 hours later.

Officers said one boy was on a weekend pass from the Kendall Youth Home where he was serving a sentence for burglary and possession of barbiturates. He was returned to the home. The other boys were sent to the Dade County Youth Hall, police said.

Three weeks ago in Boston, a young woman was killed by youths who forced her to soak herself with gasoline then set her afire.

Good Signs in Ford-UAW Talks

DETROIT (UPI) — The news blackout surrounding the Ford-United Auto Workers contract talks today was seen by observers as a good sign there will be agreement on a new contract for 185,000 workers by Friday's 10 a.m. strike deadline.

The news blackout was imposed at noon Monday, four minutes after the UAW formal-ly terminated its old three-year traditional sign that intensive negotiations are under way. At Chrysler, where the UAW contract, which had been extended on a day-to-day basis past the Sept. 14 expiration.

Before the information flow was ended, company and union negotiators indicated the re-negotiating 94 hours was ample time to reach a settlement Friday's 10 a.m. strike deadline.

At Ford Monday, instead of the usual press briefings by top Ford is expected to closely negotiators, public relations men handed out two statements follow the 3 per cent annual wage increase plus 12 cents in —one announcing the union had the first year and the improved officially set the strike deadline "30-and-out" pension plan. But and the other saying there was Ford has said it does not want a news blackout.

Kidnaping Wave In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Armed men in at least two cars kidnaped the manager of the Swissair airline in Latin America Monday as he left his suburban home for work, the airline said.

A wave of kidnapings of wealthy persons in Argentina this year has been carried out by leftist groups demanding large ransoms for their hostages' safe return. Swissair said there was no communication from the unidentified group that kidnaped its manager, Kurt Schmid, 43.

Schmid's wife told the company she and her husband left their home in Martinez about 14 miles north of the city Monday morning in separate cars, with her husband's driven by a chauffeur.

Before they were too far away from each other, she saw her husband's car blocked and intercepted by two other cars carrying armed men. He was forced to go with them. The Schmidts have three children living here and a fourth studying in Switzerland. Willy Salzborn, Swissair's manager for Brazil who was in Buenos Aires for conferences, said "the company will do everything possible" to secure Schmid's freedom.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 23, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON
and LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — Between 2,000 and 3,500 Americans are burned to death in auto accidents every year. All too many are the victims of poor engineering and government indifference.

We have studied dozens of pictures of scorched cars and blackened corpses. We have also watched vivid color films of auto tests, paid for by the U.S. government but left to gather dust in UCLA's engineering library.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Move Those Lethal Gas Tanks

These show what rear-end collisions can do to standard Detroit cars with gas tanks located near the rear, whether they are the late models of Ford, Chrysler, General Motors or American Motors. In the films, automobiles traveling from 10 to 55 miles an hour are shown slamming into the rear of the test cars. The results are horrifying.

RUPTURED TANKS

At 30 to 40 miles per hour the filler tubes were ripped from the tank, which began to rupture. Leaking gas spewed into the car and onto the road. When the fuel was purposely ignited, as often happens from sparks during an accident, the life-like dummies were consumed by fire.

The films also demonstrated that highway cremations can be reduced simply by relocating the gas tank. When the test car was modified to place the tank over the rear axle, the crash failed to split the tank. The only leakage came from the filler tubes.

Other documents, obtained indirectly from Ford's internal files for us by West Los Angeles product safety expert Byron Bloch, show Ford has been crash-testing its gas tanks since 1957. Yet the company, while making some concessions to safety, still refuses to put the tank over the rear axle.

On some Fords, the floor of the trunk is the same piece of thin sheet metal as the top of the gas tank — an arrangement criticized by American Motors as early as 1964. But it wasn't until court cases began to accumulate that Ford began abandoning this hazardous design.

CALLOUS GM

Meanwhile General Motors, incredibly, is moving its gas tanks even further back, thus increasing the danger of fiery, rear-end collisions.

Unlike the style-conscious nabobs of Detroit, the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing has tough rules to block the unnecessary 'immolation of drivers. To get on a NASCAR track, an auto must have a 'firewall of steel not less than 20 gauge thickness, a gas tank 'as far forward as possible in the trunk compartment,' safety valves and other anti-fire devices.

Ironically, the reason the Detroit automakers give for their interest in racing is to gain more safety research. Yet they refuse to adopt the NASCAR gas system standards. This failure has led to such horror stories as these:

A mother, father and four children from Kentucky were rear-ended as they were driving home from a vacation. The car became a fireball as gas burst out of the ruptured gas tank. A witness tried to pull the screaming family from the car, but the flames forced him back. All six were cremated alive. Our photos of the tragedy show they might have survived if the gas tank had been located over the rear axle.

'FLAMETHROWER'

The car of an 18-year-old New York girl and her parents was hit in the rear at a toll booth. The filler tube popped from the tank, creating a flamethrower effect that incinerated the parents. The burning girl was pulled alive through the front window by a toll booth guard.

Block, the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety and the Center for Auto Safety have all taken their research on fuel systems to the Transportation Department. They have received the legislative support of Rep. John Moss, D-Calif. But so far, the Department has shrugged off the issue except to promise 'ultimately' to produce a standard.

In Detroit, spokesmen for the Big Three automakers vigorously defended the safety of their cars.

General Motors claimed no matter where a tank is located, fires cannot be completely avoided. "It has not been established," insisted GM, "that moving the tank will significantly improve the crashworthiness of the fuel system."

CLASH OF FIGURES

At Ford, a spokesman said car fires are extremely rare, with the fatality figures more like 600-to-700 than the Transportation Department's 2,000-to-3,500 estimate. The Ford man said there has never been "any demonstrated value to a firewall."

Chrysler claimed there isn't enough data available on the tanks for a final decision. By shifting the tank forward, said the spokesman, the danger might increase from frontal crashes, side accidents and roll-overs.

FOOTNOTE: Despite these protestations, Toyota tests have demonstrated the safety of tanks over the rear axle.

In Mercedes-Benz's new sedans, the tanks have also been moved over the rear axle. Studebaker Avantis have had firewalls and rear-axle tanks since 1962. Furthermore, the new experimental safety vehicles being developed with federal funds have the tanks over the rear axle, metal firewalls and other safety devices.

On the Right

Farewell to Agnew

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

The fault was substantially Agnew's. But the consequences of his weaknesses are substantially those of the American people. We go to such lengths to identify positions with people, that we find it hard to detach those positions from those people when it becomes convenient to do so. So comprehensively did Agnew emerge on the political scene as the incarnation of law, order, probity, and inflexible ethics, that now that he has fallen, we are made to feel that the case for law, order, probity, and inflexible ethics has somehow fallen too: that ethics is itself subject to bribe and delinquency. This tendency to anthropomorphize our ideals is an American habit that can get us, indeed has just now gotten us into, deep trouble.

The conservative community was outraged when, 20 years ago, Dean Acheson said following the conviction of Alger Hiss that he would not turn his back on Alger Hiss. It was felt then that Acheson was not saying merely that he would stand by — in his hour of need — an old friend, even one who had lied and, who had worked for a foreign dictator, and who had attempted (indeed still does) to bring down an innocent man in order to save his own skin — Acheson was saying not merely that he would stand by that man, but that, in effect, he doubted the processes of justice that found that man guilty. That was why we were outraged.

And we have a right to be outraged against those who, for old times' sake, and in veneration of their ideals as so trenchantly defended by Vice-President Agnew, will say now: I'm standing behind Agnew — Agnew was framed. Mr. Agnew, reaching for self-justification, was no more plausible than Alger Hiss. He lost his plausibility after looking the ladies of California in the eye and telling them that he would not resign under any circumstances, only to do so a fortnight later, pleading guilty to one felony, and acquiescing in the publication of a dossier of data about his activities, which, if it is a tissue of lies, permits us to believe that the Justice Department and the FBI and the judiciary conspired together to frame Alger Hiss.

I do not see that it is a part of the conservative creed to suggest that no one who believes in our creed can succumb to temptation. Rather our political creed is substantially built upon the need to advertise the lures of temptation; government, we believe, is presumptively guilty of self-enhancement at the expense of the people's liberty, and although the definition of a crime is often capricious, and can even be a reflection of idiosyncratic cultural traditions, making it for instance perfectly okay to promise to make someone a judge when you come to power, or even a vice president, it is in fact wrong for money to pass hands.

What you cannot tolerate, in politics, is precisely what is required in law: a consideration. Mr. Agnew knew all this, and it really would not affect one's judgment of what he did if he could prove that while Governor he had awarded the contract to paint the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel to Michelangelo. He looked us all in the eyes and said he was not guilty, had done nothing wrong, was being persecuted by the Justice Department, would not resign; and we believed him.

I think it right that we should have believed him. But I think it wrong that because we have over several years now treated Mr. Agnew and the ideas Mr. Agnew is associated with as inseparable, that we should, in order to attempt to salvage those ideas, attempt to salvage Mr. Agnew. The temptation — our temptation — is, really, to salvage our own pride. The temptation is to say, as so many said to themselves about Alger Hiss: the man I trust is therefore trustworthy.

It is the highest tribute to Mr. Agnew to take his ideals so seriously as to apply them to Agnew himself. To say that the guilty should be removed from power, however great the sacrifice to those of us who are bereft. That we are mature enough to make moral decisions and abide by the consequences. That we are so gravely committed to high standards of behavior, that we are willing to renounce those who stray from those high standards — even if they are our friends and heroes.

It is a terrible irony that at the moment in history when liberalism is sputtering in confusion, empty of resources, we should be plagued as we are by weak and devious men. The terrible sadness of Spiro Agnew's existence touches everything conservatives do today: our manifestoes, our analysis, our hymns and our laughter. Through their participation in this adversity they must seek strength, such strength as they derive from knowing that Mr. Agnew was profoundly right about many of the causes of our decline, that though he proved to be a physician who could not heal himself, in his words as uttered over four years, there were the rocks of truth, and to these truths, however dazed and saddened, conservatives must rededicate themselves, without hesitation, with faith, with hope and with charity.

Washington Calling

U.S. Trained Egypt's Army Chief

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — The way The Pentagon has trained the world's army chiefs, and particularly those in right-wing dictatorships, is pointed up by what has happened in the newest Middle East war. The Egyptians' initial battlefield successes owe a lot to that training.

Lt. Gen. Sasseddin Shazli, chief of staff of the Egyptian forces, recognized as a brilliant strategist received a key component of his military education at Fort Benning, Ga., and Fort Lee, Va. The paratroop, air drop and air transport courses he took in 1953 were the initial impetus for the airborne tactics he employed in getting his troops across the Suez Canal and into the mountain passes threatening the Israeli stronghold of Sharm el Sheikh.

Widely recognized not only for his generalship but for his zeal in endowing the Egyptian "mies with the will to fight, Shazli embodies in his person the superpower confrontation in the Middle East. Following his training in the United States, he commanded a paratroop unit in the Suez Crisis of 1956 when Britain, France and Israel attacked Egypt while the United States joined the Soviet Union and Arab elements in opposing the invasion which was halted by United Nations action. The following year, after promotion to lieutenant colonel, Shazli went to Moscow for further training.

Top military men from South Vietnam, Greece, Thailand Yugoslavia, Saudi Arabia and many other countries, including Israel, have had the rigorous, highly effective course at Benning. Following their workout in all aspects of airborne warfare they are given VIP tours around the country. Hardly a day goes by that colonels and majors, often in the gaudy uniform of Latin America, are not being trotted around to see the sights of Washington.

The Chilean generals received extensive American help on the scene in Santiago prior to the coup that overthrew the Marxist government of Salvador Allende. This was done through the Military Assistance Program (MAP). As Washington cut down on economic aid to the Allende regime, military aid rose rapidly.

That the United States trains forces that are often the agents of repression is hardly a secret to public opinion in those countries where the tough military hold the line. In Thailand, as a recent example, the military shot down hundreds of student protesters before the government then in power with military backing surrendered to overwhelming opposition.

The American role in providing technical skills for the military supporting law and order for the regimes in power has contributed to the alienation not only of the left but often of those in the middle believing that hope of democratic change is denied by the men with the guns. This feeling is reinforced in some instances by the training given through Agency for International Development (AID) programs to public safety and police forces.

AID provides 14 to 17 weeks of training at the International Police Academy in Washington. A recent graduating course included Thai, Filipinos, South Koreans, South Vietnamese and Chileans. Courses are conducted for senior police officers and for those at the middle management level. In some cases, Saudi Arabia is one, the country pays all the costs. Latin American trainees have come from Uruguay, Bolivia, Columbia and Ecuador.

Altogether AID has sent 4,661 police from 75 countries through the course. The $7.4 million in the fiscal 1974 budget is the lowest figure in the history of the program as are all other AID allocations in a record-low request.

As a star Benning graduate, Shazli made many friends among his American classmates. They sent him congratulations when in 1971 he became chief of staff of the Egyptian forces, the youngest ever to hold that post. In President Anwar Sadat's purge of the military he replaced Lt. Gen. Mohammed Sadek.

One of the few to distinguish himself in the Egyptian rout during the six-day war in 1967 Shazli was among the last to leave the Sinai Peninsula, swimming across the canal to escape capture. As an official of the Arab League he has passionately preached the cause of Arabism.

The thousands of officers passing through the Benning course learn a lot about American military technique. What they may learn about American attitudes and belief is another matter.

Final Rebuke to Native Spain

Puerto Rico Burial for Pablo Casals

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — Pablo Casals, the most famous cellist of his time, lay in state at his hilltop home today before burial in his adopted Puerto Rico as a last rebuke to the nationalist government of his native Spain.

Casals, 96, died Monday of heart and lung complications. The famed cellist-composer-conductor vowed in 1939 never to return to Spain so long as it was ruled by Gen. Francisco Franco. He kept the self-imposed exile pledge the last 34 years of his life, and, in keeping with his wishes, it will be respected in death. The body was to be taken from his home later today to be placed under the rotunda of the Puerto Rican Capitol Building so the public may pay tribute.

Christian burial at the Puerto Rican Memorial Cemetery in Isla Verde was to be preceded by an afternoon mass officiated by Cardinal Luis Aponte Martínez at La Piedad Catholic Church. Plans called for Casals' "Song of the Birds" to be played at the mass as the maestro requested.

The Catalonian maestro moved to Puerto Rico, homeland of his mother, in 1957 with his Puerto Rican wife, Marta Montañez. He became a beloved institution, founding the Puerto Rico Conservatory of Music, the Puerto Rican Symphony Orchestra and the annual Casals Festival.

Gov. Rafael Hernández Colon proclaimed three days of official mourning for Casals, in peace. He died in Puerto Rico, land of his mother who inspired his art, land of liberty.

land of peace. This people, which is honored to have him among us, which grew with his music and was vitalized by his inspiration, today weeps at his death and opens its heart to receive him in our insides on his trip to eternity."

At Monday night's wake, steps should be in securing peace in the Middle East, McCloskey replied: "We believe that one of the early priorities should be a release of prisoners by both sides."

McCloskey said that Soviet officials were in agreement with the United States on that point.

"We and the Soviet Union have pledged our efforts to obtain assurances that this will stop off in Japan."

Kissinger Returns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger returned to Washington early today from a three-day trip to Moscow, Tel Aviv and London in search of a Middle East peace.

The presidential jet carrying Kissinger arrived at Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland at 2:15 a.m. EDT. Kissinger waved but would not speak with reporters.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey, who accompanied Kissinger on his trip, told newsmen the secretary would confer with President Nixon later today and then hold a press conference sometime in the afternoon, probably at the White House.

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (UPI) — Ivar Giaever, one of two Americans to share in the 1973 Nobel prize for physics, said today "it was for some work I did in superconductivity, but

Reached by telephone at his home, Giaever, 44, said he has been with General Electric Co. at least 15 years.

Supreme Court Refuses To Hear Plea of Newsmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today refused to interfere with contempt of court fines assessed against two newsmen for reporting on a public hearing.

Over the objection of Justice William O. Douglas the court refused to hear an appeal from two Baton Rouge, La., newsmen. They claimed a federal district court order against reporting on the 1971 hearing was an obvious violation of First Amendment freedoms. They reported despite the order and were each fined $300.

The issue placed before the high court was not whether the anti-reporting ban was illegal, but rather whether it was so obviously illegal that the two newsmen could safely disobey it.

The U.S. Circuit Court at New Orleans struck down the ban as unconstitutional, but

Youth, 18, Is Jailed In Death of Singer

MIDDLETOWN, N.J. (UPI)—An 18-year-old was held without bail in the Monmouth County Jail in connection with the death of a night club singer whose body was found last week in Middletown, N.J.

Police say Carl A. Soden, of Atlantic Highlands, was arrested at his home Monday and arrested on charges of killing Judith Ann Golub, 22, of Brooklyn, N.Y. She was the former Judith Cohn of Albany, N.Y.

Her body was found in a wooded area by police officers last Thursday. Some of her clothes were missing.

Police said the woman, an entertainer at the Copperport Inn on Route 35, where she sang with her husband, Mitchell, 25, had been beaten before she was strangled.

Authorities said Golub was seen with an unidentified man in a car near the inn before her performance last Wednesday night but declined to specify what led to the arrest of Soden.

Prosecutor James M. Coleman termed the case "odd and unusual" but refused to elaborate.

Before the Soden arrest, police had been trying to determine if the murder was linked to the slaying of Phillis Tomson, a school teacher in New Brunswick, who sometimes sang with a night club group. She was found murdered on Sept. 2.

The possible link between the two killings was still under investigation.

Year Round DST To Conserve Fuel

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prospect of widespread fuel shortages has given new currency to an old idea — year round daylight savings time. But it's not likely anyone will be able to sell it in time for the coming winter.

An extra hour of daylight at the end of the short winter days would cut down on the use of lighting, resulting in "substantial energy savings," says Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., the latest legislative champion of year-round DST.

But there are those, including the Nixon administration, who disagree, making passage of a year round DST bill during the current session of Congress doubtful. The bill certainly will not be approved before everybody sets their clocks back one hour on Oct. 28.

The Department of Transportation recently concluded that "the institution of year round daylight savings time would reduce nationwide demand for electricity by not more than one to two per cent."

DOT said, the demand for electricity is principally dependent on electrical gadgets which are operated regardless of how bright the sun is shining.

The nation went to year round DST in an effort to save electricity during World War II, but DOT noted that that was before electric toothbrushes and pencil sharpeners.

Great Britain tried it for three years ending in 1971 and found a reduction of nearly four per cent in the number of serious traffic accidents. But DOT said there is insufficient data to enable it to determine whether similar results could be achieved here.

The Department of Justice says there's no way of telling what effect a later sunset would have on crime, although it suggested that would-be felons might simply postpone their activities until a darker hour.

The problem of sending children to school while it's still dark, could be eliminated by starting classes an hour or so later, DOT said.

The controversy traditionally has pitted city dwellers against country folk. Urbanites like the idea of walking or driving home in the relative safety of daylight, while farmers complain that DST, particularly during the winter months, forces them to do their morning chores in pitch darkness.

"You have questions about postal service. I want you to have the answers."

Act. SCF Manager/Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk,
Kingston, N. Y. 12401

"How come you don't keep Post Offices open later?"

We keep your office open during the hours when most people use it. It just doesn't make any sense at all to keep the office open when almost nobody comes by.

Now there are some people who need postal services at off hours. That's why we've begun to use self-service centers—these are open 24 hours a day and can handle just about any postal need. Ask us for the location nearest you.

"Why don't you deliver earlier in the day?"

We'd like everyone to have their mail with the morning coffee. But, of course, some people have to be at the start of a mailman's route and others have to be at the end—and they wind up getting their mail later.

Our delivery routes are set up with this goal: To give you dependable service without wasting time or money.

"Why don't you make later pickups?"

The answer is our people are hard at other work. At night postal people sort the mail picked up through the afternoon. Otherwise, they couldn't get your mail on its way by the next day.

Another reason, there's hardly any mail in most boxes after our regular pickup. And we've stopped wasteful things like sending a truck to pick up one or two letters.

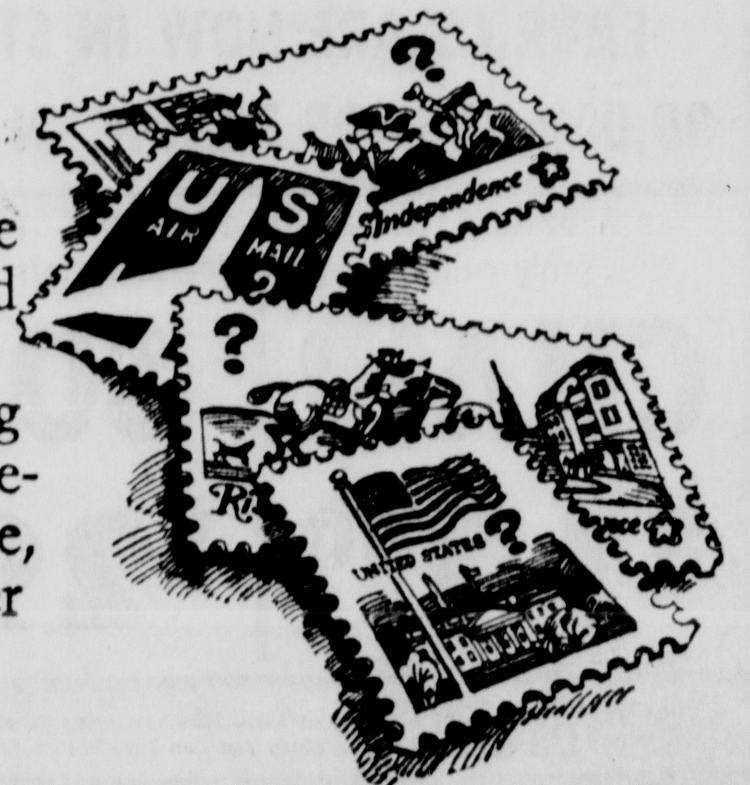

When you have an urgent letter, and it's late in the day, there are special "Star Boxes" that have evening pickups. We've put stickers on your regular mailbox that tell you where to find the nearest Star Box.

"How is the price of postage set?"

Your Postal Service makes no profit. It's set to be run at cost. The idea is that the price of a stamp should pay the costs of delivering the mail.

You want good mail service and, like everything else, that costs more than it used to. But the thing to remember is: whether you're sending a letter or a package, the price you pay depends on what it costs us to deliver your mail.

Liddy Assumed 'Rubout' Ordered

NEW YORK (UPI) — Water-gate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy thought he had been ordered to assassinate columnist Jack Anderson during the 1972 campaign, Parade Magazine reported Saturday.

The magazine said that during the course of a meeting with Jeb Magruder of the Committee for the Re-Election of the President, Magruder mentioned Anderson and told Liddy: "We've got to get rid of this guy."

Liddy, according to Parade, left the meeting and ran into Bob Reisner, Magruder's assistant.

"I've just been ordered to kill Jack Anderson," the magazine quoted Liddy as telling him.

Alarmed, Reisner ran back into Magruder's office and confronted Magruder.

"Magruder and Reisner immediately got hold of Liddy," the article said. "Magruder explained that he had just been talking figuratively. He didn't want Anderson assassinated... all he meant was that Anderson's incisive reporting constituted a problem that he would prefer to be rid of."

According to Parade, Liddy answered: "Where come from that means a rubout."

DANIEL O'CONNOR

Demos Hit GOP Board in Marbletown

STONE RIDGE Two Democrats seeking office in the Town of Marbletown issued statements recently critical of the Republican-controlled town administration. Daniel O'Connor, candidate for superintendent of highways and Michael DiBenedetto, candidate for supervisor, have called for an itemization of highway expenditures and improvements to the town's recreational facility at Tongore Park respectively.

"The budget for roads in Marbletown took a 25 per cent jump last year but many town residents would agree that it's hard to see where much of the road budget, let alone the increase, has been going," said O'Connor recently.

"Of course some work has been done in the past few months," he continued. "But I propose setting up a schedule so all roads would get some attention over a period of time and residents wouldn't have to wait for an election year to get action."

O'Connor also suggested the road superintendent submit a breakdown of the road budget.

"A lump sum doesn't give people much of an idea how their money is spent," he said.

"The budget could at least be broken down into maintenance, replacement of equipment, salaries for the crew, sand and gravel."

O'Connor also pledged himself to devote whatever time is necessary to the job of superintendent of highways in response to a remark that he wasn't paid enough to make town roads a fulltime job made by the incumbent road superintendent at the September meeting of the Marbletown Town Board.

"Taking care of our roads is a fulltime job, a demanding one and needs a man who cares enough to give the job the time it deserves," O'Connor stated.

"It's also been brought to my attention that the town maintains some roads that are not up to town specifications while refusing to take over others for that reason," O'Connor pointed out. "It seems to me that the same standards should be applied in these cases. After all, we all pay taxes."

A Marbletown resident since 1960, O'Connor is presently employed at National Microelectronics, Inc. on Route 28. He is a graduate of Rondout Valley High School, served three years with the U.S. Army as an engineer mechanic, including one year in Viet Nam and was previously in the construction business for five years in this area.

He was instrumental in starting a Young Democratic Club in Marbletown in 1969 and resides with his wife, Michele, and their two children on Route 213 in Stone Ridge.

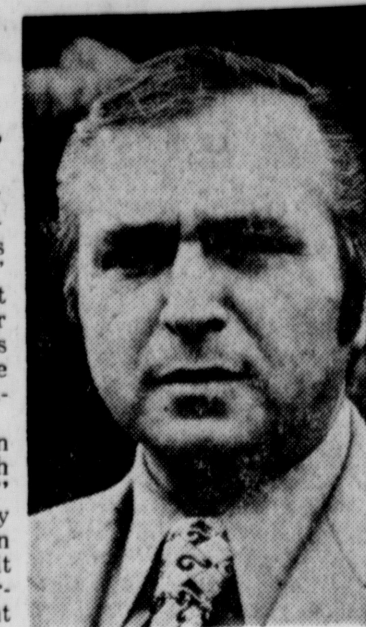

At the same time, DiBenedetto, Democratic candidate for supervisor of Marbletown, questioned the delay in improving toilet facilities and correcting the parking situation at the town recreation area on Tongore Road, in a statement issued this week.

"Everyone is aware of the problems facing us this coming year with regards to our town recreation area," DiBenedetto said. "What I can't understand is why, with many officials advising something be done, it has taken repeated violations from the Board of Health plus the resignation of the chairman of the Recreation Commission to force even the consideration of some improvements."

"Why has our town administration delayed acting on proposals to modernize toilet facilities and to relocate the parking lot when the cost would have been lower to the taxpayers of the community?" DiBenedetto asked.

"We are one of the few communities that have swimming and picnic facilities available to our townspeople," he continued. "This area must be protected and cared for before growth overwhelms us and the cost of trying to replace such an area would be impossible."

"The voters of Marbletown must be made aware that such situations do not have to exist," DiBenedetto concluded. "They can and should have town leadership that will not wait until problems have overwhelmed us but will confront them as they present themselves."

MICHAEL DiBENEDETTO

Assessors Rap Debrosky

ROSENDALE Debrosky could be "better informed" to what they call formed.

County Legislator Glenn In a press release issued Debrosky's (R-Dist. 7) "ac-today, Connolly and Quick state cussion that the bi-partisan that, "The present board of Board of Assessors of Rosendale assessors, in spite of the death are not doing their job," of its chairman in March of Assessors E. J. Connolly and this year, was able, in its first Percy Quick suggest that year, to maintain the equalization rate which has been dropping steadily in previous years.

"The two remaining assessors, (themselves) with Connolly as the new chairman, were able to increase the full valuation of the town this past year by $219,022," they said. Also, "the New York State Board of Equalization and Assessments in Albany acknowledged the substantial amount of work done and granted their request for a special school rate. This brought the equalization rate for school tax purposes up to 11 per cent. Had this work not been done our equalization rate would have dropped and a substantial increase in our tax rate would have occurred," they continued. This is the case in most townships in the county, they claimed.

Connolly and Quick said they "only regret that Debrosky, as a resident of Rosendale, and a representative of the people, was not better informed and did not see fit to take the time to get the facts from the Board of Assessors before making condemning statements on the floor of the Ulster County Legislature."

Stedge Questions Town Assessments

Robert S. Stedge, Independent candidate for supervisor of the Town of Ulster today called on Assessor Joseph Lohmaier, to explain the reassessment plan now under way in the Town of Ulster. A large section of the town has already received questionnaires regarding their property and the balance of the town is expected to receive such notices shortly, he said.

Stedge strongly requested Lohmaier to answer such specific questions as "Will this be completed in time to affect 1974 taxes?" "If not, when is it expected to be completed and in effect?" "Will those in the sewer district have an additional increase above what would have been the case if sewers were not available?" "What provisions and safeguards are there against preferential treatment?" "How is this reassessment expected to affect local, school, and county taxes?" "On what basis are trailer parks, apartment houses, and vacant agricultural land to be assessed?"

The reassessment is of considerable concern to all residents. Those factors making a reassessment necessary and its effect on the residents should be explained by Lohmaier at the earliest possible moment, Stedge said.

West Seeking Reelection

WILLIAM R. WEST

WOODSTOCK After six years as Ulster County legislator for the Woodstock district 12, William R. West is again Republican candidate for a legislative seat in the newly created fourth district. Two legislators will be selected to serve on the Ulster County Legislature from this new district, which includes the towns of Woodstock, Shandaken, Denning and Hardenburgh.

In the past legislative year West's special area of concern has been public health, with particular emphasis on care for the aged. "To be aged and ill, with no family, with no place to go is one of life's most frightening experiences and one which none of our senior citizens should have to face," West said. His proposal to increase Ulster County bed units by 200 at the County Infirmary is currently pending approval before the New York State regional health director. West is also involved in work which could result in a new Ulster County Mental Health Center.

Another of West's projects, proposed and completed during the 1972-73 legislative session, was the consolidation of the counties insurance coverage and the hiring of a professional insurance advisor. This project has resulted in vastly superior insurance protection for the county and the establishment of a County Insurance Department.

West is also a member of the legislatures committees for the Community College, County Buildings and is chairman of the Solid Waste Disposal Task Force.

West was formerly Woodstock's supervisor and councilman. He has given his time to the Woodstock community as library trustee, finance chairman of the library, president of the Woodstock Jaycees and as chairman of the Woodstock Christmas Eve program.

West has a bachelor's degree from Oswego State, did his military service in the Army and was discharged a T/Sgt. West lives with his wife and daughter in the house he built on Overlook Mountain. His son Jeffery Cole is attending law school in California. He works with William E. West Inc., where he is secretary-treasurer. West is also a member of the advisory board of the Rondout National Bank.

Kirschner Answers New Charge

TOWN OF ESOPUS "I have lived in Port Ewen for 12 years and I expect to live there for many years to come," County Legislator Lewis Kirschner (D-Dist. 7) stated vehemently today in the hopes

Sims Backs Clark's Bid

KINGSTON Alderman Titus B. Sims (R-13th Ward) has given his "whole-hearted" support to the man he hopes will succeed him in office, Walter S. Clark of Mary's Avenue.

Clark is the Republican alderman in the 13th Ward. Sims, the incumbent, is not up for reelection.

Sims was elected alderman in 1969 and reelected in 1971. "For the past four years we have tried to give the residents of the 13th Ward the king of representation they deserve," Sims said. "I have no doubt that Walter Clark will continue to give the residents of the 13th Ward that kind of conscientious service. Mr. Clark has the ability, the experience, the integrity and the time to serve our ward as its alderman," Sims concluded.

Sims said that Clark, a Republican committeeman, has been active in ward affairs since his retirement from The Daily Freeman last year.

of "putting to rest once and for all" inferences and rumors that he planned to move his residence to the City of Kingston where his delicatessen business is located.

The Democrat Kirschner said that at a recent meet, the candidates night in Union Center, his opponent Republican Sol Rosenthal of Esopus "did not deny" that statements had been made to the effect that Kirschner no longer has an interest in the Town of Esopus and that he will be moving to Kingston.

"Nothing could be farther from the truth," Kirschner said today, pointing out that he is most active in the Esopus Community as a member of the Port Ewen Fire Department, Esopus Lions Club, Town of Esopus Little League, Town of Esopus Democratic Club, PTO and as chairman of a number of charity drives.

Kirschner, who is running in the new Dist. 6 which includes Esopus and Rosendale, as Dist. 7 now does, pointed out that he is available to his constituents every day, 50 weeks a year and questions whether Rosenthal could be also available each day when he is employed for about four months a year in Albany when the State Legislature is in session.

LaLima Wants More Rec Facilities in 12th

KINGSTON Joseph LaLima, Republican candidate for alderman in the 12th Ward, said today that if elected he would give top priority to securing recreational facilities in the ward.

Addressing the residents of the 12th Ward, LaLima said, "Do you realize there's not one recreation area in your ward? Exactly what has the present alderman who has supposedly served his constituents for 12 years done about it? As you can well realize, he has done nothing. If elected alderman, I will place this as a top priority in our ward."

The incumbent LaLima refers to is Peter J. Mancuso, who has been alderman for 10 years.

"Also, just what has the present alderman done to correct the vandalism and burglaries which have occurred in our ward, or does he think that because he lives on top of the hill he can't be bothered with their problems," LaLima asked.

Mancuso lives on West Chestnut Street, in the upper section of the ward.

"If elected, I will pledge my full support to everyone in the ward, not just special groups," LaLima concluded.

The only Democratic legislator appointed recently by Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) to the Solid Waste Task Force, Kirschner is also a member of the Ulster County Community College Committee, Legislative and Rules Committee, Social Services Committee, Youth and Recreation Committee, Conference and Seminar Committee and the Board of Elections and Operation and Efficiency Committees.

He is past president of the Supervisors and Legislators Association and is active in B'Nai Brith, Chamber of Commerce, Salvation Army, Uptown Businessmen's Association, Lions International and the Children's Rehabilitation Center.

Shandaken GOP Supports Slate

SHANDAKEN

The Republican Club of Shandaken, at a recent well-attended monthly meeting, unanimously approved the Republican slate at all levels, according to club president Bill Fastenau.

Fastenau said, "despite outside sources to the contrary, unity and enthusiasm were well noted concerning the upcoming election next month after our successful Old Fashioned G.O.P. Rally at the Parish Hall."

Apple Rustling a Problem Throughout Ulster County

By MAT SPIRENG

KINGSTON Apple rustling—it's illegal, it can be costly and it might even be dangerous or deadly, but sure as shootin' (the Old West way of teaching rustlers a lesson) it keeps right on happening in orchards throughout Ulster County.

Apple growers contacted by The Freeman generally agree that the problem is of a serious nature as the juicy red fruit disappears from their trees as if by magic.

But there's no magic to it. Just passing motorists, hunters, hikers and the neighbors who see trees laden with apples and say to themselves, "They'll never miss just a few." That is the nature of the apple rustler.

"But if a few hundred people a day take 'just a few' it adds up to an awful lot of apples," grower John Minard of Clinton Dale pointed out.

"We have at least $300 worth a year stolen," Minard said. Grower William Coy Jr. of Clintondale said his losses in thefts from his orchards "run around $200 or $300 a year."

Minard's uncle, William Minard—also of Clintondale—has his own apple growing business, and his problem is apparently no less than his nephew's.

William Minard explained his greatest difficulty with apple rustlers has occurred on land rented near Stewart Airport—land taken by the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, but on which Minard still grows apples—or at least tries to.

"People flock right in," William Minard said. "They've picked off the entire bottoms of trees there," he said, placing his losses at more than 100 bushels so far this year, certainly no drop in a bucket.

Special

And speaking of drops (the term used for apples which have fallen from the tree), pilferage of those apples can be costly, too. They are being sold by growers for as much as $3 a bushel to be made into cider, for eating, or for processing.

And while apple rustling is certainly costly for the growers (and eventually for the consumers who pay for their apples—and the cost of losses), it can also be costly for the rustlers if they are caught.

It is illegal, and while several growers contacted by The Freeman indicated they usually don't have the rustlers arrested because it causes "problems, aggravation, and unpleasant situations," some do have them arrested.

One grocer, who was apparently driven to the limit by pilferage, recently had a 64-year-old grandmother who had picked an entire basket of apples, arrested. While he lost his case against her because his witness had left the area and the evidence (the apples) had been destroyed after the arrest, he indicated it certainly cost the woman quite a bit of money in lawyer's fees.

But the worst possible consequences of that incident were avoided according to the grower, John Minard, who said that if the woman and her two young grandchildren, who were with her, had eaten the apples they might have become sick.

Minard explained that growers spray their apples, according to strict government regulations, with chemicals that can be poisonous, or even deadly. Growers have to wait a certain period of time, sometimes several weeks, before the apples can be picked after spraying in order for them to be safe to eat. The growers know when they are safe, but the grandmother didn't... and they weren't. A slight twist on the old saying—"Let the rustler beware."

And then there's the case of Martin Russak, the owner of "Mr. Apples" orchard in High Falls. While Russak said he has had no major problems with apple rustlers—he has had a problem with a rustler of another sort. It seems that on Oct. 15 someone ran off with an expensive eight-foot wide "Mr. Apples" billboard that stood at the entrance to his orchards. And for information leading to its return he is offering what apple rustlers seem to take for granted—a free bushel of apples.

PPL Opens Evening Clinic

Planned Parenthood for Ulster County will enlarge its services to this community by introducing an evening clinic on Wednesday, Oct. 24. This clinic signals the participation of Dr. Robert Vorisek, who will be the examining physician that evening.

Advice Is Given to 'Smells Bad'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune, N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Someone signed "SMELLS BAD IN ROANOKE" wrote to say she was extremely clean about herself and her clothing, but she smelled a terrible odor about herself, which nobody said they smelled, and it was driving her out of her mind.

I had the same problem for four years. Finally my doctor discovered I had diabetes. He put me on a low carbohydrate diet, and the smell left me.

CURED NOW

DEAR ABBY: This is my 50th year as a physician and I have seen a number of cases like the one described by "SMELLS BAD."

That person should consult an ear, nose, and throat specialist for possible "Ozena" (stink nose), which causes a breath so foul that everything smells bad to her. The condition is the result of a chronic infection in nose and sinuses causing upper respiratory membranes to degenerate.

ARIZONA M.D.

DEAR ABBY: I also smelled bad and didn't know why. My doctor looked into my navel with a flashlight and that's where the smell was coming from. He cleaned it out and advised me to keep it clean with a bit of cotton on a toothpick, and my problem was solved.

ON THE BUTTON

DEAR ABBY: Dr. Marion B. Sultzberger, a famous dermatologist, once told me that he had a patient who came to him with the same problem as "SMELLS BAD." The doctor had the man strip. He still smelled bad. Then the doctor told the man to remove his gold wedding band. That was the culprit! In some people, their body chemistry and certain metals create a very unpleasant odor.

J. T., CORONA DEL MAR, CAL.

Memorial Service

Town of Esopus Senior Citizens will hold a memorial program in Port Ewen Methodist Church Thursday at 2 p.m. Area clergymen will participate.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Tell that lady who smells bad my brother had the same problem. He went to doctors and nobody could help him. Finally an old man told him to drink four ounces of dry white wine four times a day before meals, and again at bedtime. He did and in a week the odor was gone, and he was like a new man.

COFFEYVILLE, KAS.

DEAR ABBY: "SMELLS BAD" should make an appointment with her dentist immediately. I had that problem, and didn't know it was caused by an infected wisdom tooth. When my dentist discovered it he was amazed that I did not have a toothache that raised the top of my head. I never had a twinge of pain, but that terrible odor nearly drove me nuts!

OKAY NOW

DEAR ABBY: If "SMELLS BAD" wears glasses she should check the nose piece of her glasses. I smelled something vile for months and couldn't detect its source. Finally I discovered it was the perspiration collected in the nose piece of my glasses that was causing it. I bought new glasses, and clean them with alcohol regularly, and haven't had any trouble since. S.M.E.L.L.S. GOOD IN BALTIMORE

DEAR ABBY: It's the woman's gall bladder. A friend of mine kept sniffing everywhere for "dead mice" for six months. Finally, a doctor examined her and found that she had gall bladder trouble. She was smelling her own infected gall bladder!

R. L. D. IN VERMONT

DEAR ABBY: The woman who smells bad should be asked if she has had her ears pierced lately. When I had mine pierced, I smelled bad for months before I found out

Lake Ends First Phase in UCCCC Inquiry

MIDDLETOWN — "As far as my office is concerned," said Robert Lake, "this matter is closed."

Lake, the director of Region XV of the NJCAA, acting on the results of an investigation conducted by Ulster Dean of Students David L. Bartlett, last week instructed the Senator basketball team to forfeit all awards and trophies accumulated during the 1972-73 season due to the presence of an ineligible player on the squad, Robert Miller.

"My duties as regional director are to decide only if Ulster acted knowingly or unknowingly in the case," Lake said. "As the information was presented to me, I determined Ulster was unknowing and recommended that to the Executive, Standards and Ethics Committees (of the NJCAA)."

Lake's letter to Bartlett contained a three-part censure. UCCCC was directed to send letters of forfeiture to all teams defeated by the Senators during the past season. Miller was ordered dropped from the current team, and all awards were directed to be returned.

Lake noted that twice the question of Miller's eligibility status was broached to him. The first occasion, in June of this year, was settled quickly when a check of UCCCC records listed Miller as a legitimate high school graduate. "The transcript was okay, so I dropped it there," Lake said.

Recently, however, the matter resurfaced. "I called Dave (Bartlett) and told him to check this out thoroughly — to go back to the high school and compare the records."

What Bartlett discovered, that Miller was no where near a high school diploma, sent the Stone Ridge campus tumbling into shock.

The investigation into the details of the transcript tampering is still underway. Thus far no member of UCCCC's staff or faculty has been connected with the incident, but should that occur Lake commented, "I might have to reconsider the 'knowing factor'."

As far as the UCCCC community is concerned, that is a key issue. The penalties levied so far are relatively light — only the achievements of one season have been officially erased. Should the term "unknown position" have to be changed, Lake remarked that the possibility of probation exists, the censuring of all sports at Ulster for a season.

Lake had several general observations to make about the case. He noted that Region XV has been in the past one of the better sections of the NJCAA in terms of eligibility violations. He also said that while questions of eligibility were rather common during the course of a season, he had never before been involved with transcript tampering.

"I think this situation and the situation involving Rudy Jackson at Hutchinson will be to the NJCAA's benefit," he said. "I think it will make us more aware that we will have to check these kids more closely."

Lake did feel that the junior colleges might experience some backlash from the local communities. "You might see the local boys getting a chance to play because of it. I think everybody likes to see a local kid out on the court, even if it is difficult to win."

The eligibility rule circumvented by Miller states that an athlete must be a high school graduate. As this is not a requirement for admission to a junior college, the rule has come under fire as discriminatory and was challenged at a meeting of regional directors last March.

"We from Region XV thought that one semester passed in good standing was enough to qualify an athlete as a student, but it was voted down."

To Brewers

Angels Deal Clyde Wright

ANAHEIM (UPI) — The California Angels, looking for a hitting catcher, traded Clyde Wright, the winningest pitcher in the club's history, to Milwaukee Monday in a 10-player deal that brought Brewer receiver Ellie Rodriguez to the Angels.

"We felt that we needed a catcher very badly and they felt they needed a left-handed starter," Angel manager Bobby Winkles said. "We traded some experience for a little youth."

The multi-player trade, announced by Angels' General Manager Harry Dalton, also involved Brewers outfielders Ollie Brown and Joe Lahoud and pitchers Skip Lockwood and Gary Ryerson, and Angels' pitcher Steve Barber, outfielder Ken Berry, reserve catcher At Kuszny and another Angel to be named later.

Wright had won 87 games in his seven-plus years with the Angels but his record this year was 11-19.

"This is not the happiest day of my life," the 30-year-old Wright said. "But there comes a time when it has to be done. I've been fortunate to be with the Angels for the last seven years. This is the prettiest place in the American League to play ball."

Rodriguez, 27, hit .269 in 290 at bats and drove in 30 runs for the Brewers in 1973. He had a .285 average in 1972.

The Angels hope Rodriguez can solve their hitting void as catcher. Their receiver most of last season was Jeff Torborg, 31, who hit .220.

"Everyone on our club involved in the trade was over 30 and everyone we got from Milwaukee was under 30," said Winkles. "So we traded some experience for a little youth."

Angel reliever Barber, 34, who was a 20-game winner with Baltimore in 1963 and 3-2 with California this season, said he was surprised by the trade but was looking forward to playing with Milwaukee, his seventh major league team.

"Initially I was unhappy about it but the more I think about it, I feel Milwaukee has real good potential," Barber said. "They're going to score a lot of runs and all they need is more consistent pitching."

Winkles talked about some of the Angels' acquisitions:

"Lockwood (5-12 last season) we think can be a good reliever and we have to flirt with the idea that he will be a starter, but we'll have to leave that up to Tom Morgan, our pitching coach."

"Ollie Brown (who batted .280 and hit seven home runs last season) gives us more power in the outfield than what we had."

"Lahoud (who batted .204, hit five homers and had 26 RBIs) is a guy that nobody's very high on but I personally like him. I say I like him because he goes about baseball seriously and as far as I'm concerned, that's a start."

"Ryerson is a guy of 26 who we thought we'd like to take a chance on." (The Angels assigned him to the Salt Lake City club but Dalton said he would join the team's major league spring training camp).

MOVING DAY—The New York Yankees set up shop at the old World's Fair grounds across the street from Shea Stadium Monday. Scheduled to share Shea with the Mets and the Jets while Yankee Stadium is being renovated, the Yanks will also get a new manager—reportedly Dick Williams, recently resigned field boss of the World Champion Oakland A's. (UPI)

STILL FRIENDS—Dick Williams (L.), who announced his resignation as manager of the Oakland A's Sunday following their World Series win over the New York Mets, chats with A's owner Charles O. Finley Monday at parade given in honor of A's in Oakland. Mrs. Norma Williams sits between the two. Oakland's populace turned out by the thousands to cheer the A's as they paraded in vintage cars. # American League to Choose MacPhail

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Cronin, 1959 when he succeeded the late

Will Harridge.

During his term as president, the American League expanded to 12 teams, eventually split into two divisions and early this year adopted the controversial designated hitter rule.

League owners two years ago voted a resolution ordering Cronin to hire an administrative assistant who would be capable of replacing the league president but Cronin made no such move.

"I don't know if it's up or down," said Cronin recently when asked if he would step down as league president. "We haven't come to any conclusion."

New Looks Almost Clicked for KHS

By IRA FUSFELD

KINGSTON — The element of surprise nearly paid off for Kingston High School's football team Saturday.

Trying desperately to unleash a point-producing offense, the KHS coaching staff did a little huddling and came up with two new looks, designed perhaps as much for their value as they were for their soundness.

That the offensive line had been something less than spectacular the first five weeks of the season was evident. That something had to be done in order to improve it was obvious.

That putting a blocker like Tim Pillsworth at tight end and then running sweeps on his side made good sense.

For the most part the tactic worked, not only because it was a knowledgeable maneuver, but also because Ketcham wasn't expecting it.

That Kingston had not really been a passing threat was evident, although KHS had struck for six points several times and seemed competent enough when Alan Greenspan was doing the throwing. That something had to be done was not so obvious since the big change appeared to be in the direction of improving the rushing game. That putting defensive back Raymond Gay, whose only throwing this season had been on fake conversion plays, in at quarterback was a complete surprise.

Why use Raymond Gay at quarterback in a 9-6 game when Gay hadn't played there all season? Because, said Kingston Coach Tony Badalato, Gay is the best long ball thrower on the team.

And since Kingston certainly needed the long ball, Gay entered the fray. One more thing. Just to add a little more of the unexpected to the situation, split John Dawson wide right, and send Steve Mehic and Mike McLane flanked right. Leave Steve Englehardt in the backfield for blocking purposes.

What do you have? A new KHS offensive alignment, designed to surprise and hopefully confuse a high school defense unit, and somehow score the winning touchdown in the closing minutes of an important game.

And don't you know it almost worked! There was Gay going back to pass on a second and nine on Kingston's 46, and there was the ball wobbling long and high over the Ketcham defense.

And there was John Dawson steering over to where the pigskin would drop, just like a centerfielder going up the alley in left center to track down a potential extra base hit. That the pass wasn't a text book spiral is one thing, that it was long enough and high enough to enable Dawson to get there is another.

Kingston had a first down inside the Ketcham ten and appeared to be on its way to pulling out the game. That Kingston failed is another story.

That Kingston was able to successfully pull off the element of surprise is something to think about for the future.

The DCSL race is now a three-team affair. Beacon held on to its slim lead Friday by rallying in the fourth quarter to beat Roosevelt. With Ketcham winning and Arlington sitting, the standings now show Beacon at 5-1, Ketcham 4-1, and Arlington 3-1.

Saugerties, 2-3, and Kingston, 3-2, their title hopes rapidly disappearing, are heading to a championship game of their own. It takes place Nov. 10 in Saugerties and it should be a rather explosive finale.

Who will be the first to say "the record books are thrown out the window for this one?"

That's a total of $1,065,000 in purses that has disappeared.

$1,065,000 Is Lopped Off 1974 PGA Tourney Slate

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Notes from the pro golf tournament trail.

Two more rich events have joined the list of former tournaments on the PGA tour. With the ones that already have gone by the boards more than $1 million in total purses will be missing from the 1974 schedule.

The latest casualties are the $125,000 Robinson Open and the one that was ballooned as the game's only double-header, the U.S. Professional Match Play Championship and the companion L&M Open.

L&M, feeling the nation's economic pinch, has cut back on promotions including some auto racing sponsorships and has dropped participation in the match play.

That one, along with the L&M Open, carried $200,000 in purses.

The St. Louis Open, which offered $210,000 this year, will not be played next season. The Greater Milwaukee Open, worth $130,000 this season almost certainly will be dropped.

Two others are gone. The $150,000 Cleveland Open and the $200,000 National Team Championship dropped off the schedule this season, just temporarily, to make way for the PGA National Championship and the U.S. Open, respectively. They won't be back.

That's a total of $1,065,000 in purses that has disappeared.

Kingston Marine Ties Spitz's Seven Goldies

KINGSTON

Mark Spitz, the Olympic Adonis, isn't the only swimmer who can claim seven gold medals in one competition. Add the name of Marine Lance Corporal Claude Landerway to the list.

The slender, former Kingston High School start now stationed in Okinawa, shattered three of his own records as he grabbed seven goldies (six individually) to pace the Foster team to an easy victory in the September Intramural Swimming Championships.

The Foster team win the championship with 44 points. Camp Hanna was runnerup with 23 points and Onna Point third with 20 points.

The Foster mermen were running a distant third until the fifth event, the individual medley, when Landerway glided in with a comfortable 10-second margin and then went on to win five additional individual events.

Landerway's victories came in the 100 meter free-style (1:02.2); 100 meter individual medley (1:17.5); 50 meter breaststroke (37.9); 100 meter backstroke (1:25.0); 100 meter butterfly (1:19.4) and 50 meter backstroke (33.9).

Landerway then joined with Eben Dale, Lee Roy Pierson and Peter Hayes to give Foster an easy victory in the 200 yard freestyle relay in 2:11.5. Onna Point was runnerup in 1:29.7 and Hansen third in 1:33.7.

Landerway, who will complete his U.S. Marine stint in March of 1974, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Landerway of Kingston.

Editor's Notebook

Charles J. Tiano, Sports Editor

MORGAN HILL

In the light of present day mores, there is a touch of irony in the demise, temporary or permanent, of the Kingston Sport Club Kickers — one of the winningest athletic teams in area history. The reason they are dropping out of the German-American Soccer Association — they want to live and play by the book.

Having won the 1972-73 pennant in the Southern Division of League Division of GASA, the Kickers earned automatic promotion to the middle division — the Premier — of the three-tiered soccer organization. Ordinarily that would be reason for rejoicing, but for the Kickers it was just beginning of a large headache.

The GASA rules are specific, unyielding and unbending. In order to compete in the Premier Division, a franchise must field a reserve team and that was an obstacle the Kickers couldn't surmount. Ergo, their decision to pack it in. They could have returned to the lowest echelon — the League division — but having won a title there, the Kickers players were in no mood to go back.

Now about that reserve team. And let Bill Oehler, a long time KSC stalwart take it from there. "When the time came to prepare for the coming season," says Bill, "it was to become more obvious that this would be a tough commitment to fulfill fairly. I say 'fairly' and you will see why."

"It was our feeling that players for the reserve team should come from young, local talent, mainly from surrounding high schools and colleges," Oehler explained. "Unfortunately, under the present scholastic setup in New York State, these young players cannot play on a reserve team while competing for their school."

"As long as this situation prevails," said Oehler, "a club of our stature will not have too much chance to survive above the level of the League Division. European players are no longer immigrating to the United States like they used to in the past. We counted heavily on them in the past but this source of talent is drying up."

Oehler mentions some ruses the Kickers could have resorted to but rejected out of hand. "We could have called on all the former old timers to 'sign up,' which would have fulfilled our obligation on paper, at least. When game time arrived, we could have maneuvered and forfeited. But this is not the fair way to do it."

"Once before we had stepped down to a lower division because we could not fairly field a reserve team," said Oehler. "We were not about to start playing games now and, in reality, be deceitful."

Oehler referred to another "major obstacle" confronting the Kickers — the archaic scheduling system of the association. "When opponents came to our field, they always had the reserve team playing just prior to the main contest. But, when we travelled it was always nearly a fact that our reserve team was scheduled two or three games ahead of the first team. The reason — we were told — was the 'field problem' in the metropolitan area, the scarcity of playing areas."

"If this was the reward for having a great field and clubhouse setup, as we have, we felt the league had better re-examine its policies. A rather odd way of doing things, we thought, and it certainly created a tremendous transportation policy for us."

Oehler explained that the Kickers were turned down flatly when they sought permission to play in the Premier Division without a reserve team. The league's counter-proposal return to the League Division.

"Our players thought this reaction was arbitrary and unfair," said Oehler. "The club officials shared our feelings and we all come to the same conclusion — no team for 1973-74."

The Kingston Sport Club Kickers may or may not be reorganized. If they don't come back, they will be remembered for several reasons — their fantastic record, their contributions to soccer in general in the area and their adherence to principles.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

NO CALLS: (Q) I think Janis is trying to get rid of me. For a month she has told me not to call or come over because her dad was mad at me.

So I called him up and asked him why and he said he wasn't mad at me, that she must have made it up. Now I don't know what to do when I see Janis.—Confused in California.

(A) I get the impression you are no longer on Janis' most popular list. Be friendly when you see her. Don't ask her to explain. Avoid any arguments with her.

And spend your spare time looking for another girl friend who will be honest with you.

UNTOLD: (Q) I am 12 years old. There is a girl that I like but she doesn't know it. I am pretty sure she dislikes me, but no matter how much I try, I can't forget her. What should I do?—Loser in Florida.

(A) You are entirely too negative. When you decide you are defeated, you ARE.

Be positive. Be friendly with the girl. Show her you like her, and eventually tell her. It is entirely possible that she will like you as much as you like her.

Capt. Lovell Addresses Veterans Day Throng in Poughkeepsie

Attitude Towards Military Displeases Ex-Astronaut

CAPT. LOVELL ARRIVES IN POUGHKEEPSIE

By TIM SCHUSTER

POUGHKEEPSIE — Captain James P. Lovell, astronaut, retired, told a throng of perhaps 2,000 persons Monday that the "position I enjoyed in the space program was the result of military training."

He recounted having been "rather disappointed" in his travels around the country in finding attitudes regarding the military as "second class citizens."

Capt. Lovell's remarks were upon the occasion of the dedication of a $25,000 marble sculpture by Lumen Winter, a white dove with tail raised to the sky, embodying a quest for peace.

The dedication followed a Veterans Day program at the war memorial on the other side of Poughkeepsie's new City Hall, and is part of a five-day celebration sponsored by the Downtown Poughkeepsie Council.

The city's $3.5 million Main Mall is nearing completion, with concrete all poured and shade trees waiting to be planted. It stretches for three blocks along former Main Street east from Market Street, and is lined with choice commercial property.

Nothing marred the well-conceived and well-executed program which, with the help of warm sun on the beautiful new City Hall grounds, was seen to bring tears to several eyes with the playing of "taps".

And, although two speakers became confused and kept referring to the "peace memorial" as a "war memorial," a genuine plea for unity and peace in the nation during troubled times was summed up by Poughkeepsie Mayor Jack Economou in finding it "fitting" on Veteran's Day to dedicate a memorial to peace.

The only reference to recent high level federal administrative actions came in a prayer from Rabbi Erwin Zimet when he alluded to "disrespect for law and order even in high places."

Winter, the sculptor, said, "What I have to say is in the marble." He and a staff had carved it in Italy and had the 21-foot shaft shipped by ship.

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., the main speaker at the earlier Veteran's Day ceremonies, introduced Capt. Lovell as "an authentic American hero."

Lovell was associated with space flights as astronaut and backup pilot for three men ever to leave the Earth's gravity on the first manned moon flight, and was the first man to make the trip

Foughkeepsie with his wife and two teenage daughters.

He recalled a feeling of humility in looking back at Earth from several hundred thousand miles and a realization that we "must all strive toward one goal—peace."

In questioning by reporters later, Lovell said that, while retired from Navy service, he is still an employee of the federal government and does public relations work for NASA "when they call on me," as well as being an appointee of President Nixon's on the Physical Fitness Committee.

He said that federal budgetary cutbacks in appropriations to NASA at present would not prove too harmful, as technology is being studied to produce results at lower cost. And he regards the Soviet space program as "friendly competition."

And the astronaut stated that

Paltz Dems Note Republican Action

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ — The Democratic candidates for town office in New Paltz said the Republicans were beginning to take Democratic advice, at a press conference held in New Paltz Monday.

John Vett, Democratic candidate for councilman, noted that the Republican town board had directed the planning board to review the town's ordinance on planned unit developments. The Democrats have been calling for changes in this ordinance since it was adopted more than a year ago.

Ralph Kulseng, the other Democratic councilman candidate, pointed out that incumbent Republican Supervisor Theodore Lasher has endorsed the idea of hiring an auditor to supervise the town's books. Kulseng approves of the idea, and said the town should have adopted it "nine months ago, when we first proposed it."

Both Kulseng and Democratic Supervisor candidate John Logan have called for a town comptroller, who would fulfill much the same function as the auditor, according to Kulseng.

Kulseng also proposed the creation of a ward system to replace the current at large Road before the costs go higher.

He also scored Town Police Director John F. Taylor for advising the cost of a patrolman at North Putt Corners Road and Route 299 in the mornings, at $37.50 a week, was too high. Noting that Taylor had done a traffic study of the intersection at the request of the Republican candidates, he said it was "another example" of Taylor's "narrow partisanship."

Vett said the Democrats would provide, if elected, "a change of scene, a breath of fresh air, a change of style."

He said the Democrats would listen to people, and that the water and sewer districts for the proposed Tri-State shopping center had been passed by the town board despite opposition at the public hearing.

Al Sussman, Democratic candidate for town justice, said that people were unaware of the uses of the justice court, especially in the area of redress of wrongs for consumers, and he would make the possibilities of the court known to people if elected.

Kathy Puglisi, Democratic candidate for town clerk, again stressed that she would be "impartial," and independent of partisanship, if she were elected.

Candidate Reveals Consumer Plan

By LYNN MULVANEY

TOWN OF KINGSTON — "I feel the campaign is at a standstill. I am unable to draw any response from my opponents," County Legislator Douglas V. Dye said Monday at the same time he revealed his six-point plan for consumer protection.

The Independent candidate in Dist. 2, Town of Kingston, Town of Ulster, said he still feels reappointment is the biggest issue of the campaign and that he is concerned because legislative candidates are not taking a look at what he calls the issue with long-term impact such as solid waste, Stewart Jetport and water supplies.

Dye revealed his consumer protection plan at a press conference he called at the Gov. Clinton Hotel saying, "in the next two years the consumer and businessman will demand mutual understandings and new open ethics will be required particularly from service industries."

"For the most part, the ma-majority of Ulster County businessmen are honest, fair and conduct their business in an open, above-board manner," Dye continued. "Unfortunately, however, valid complaints continue to occur and registered against a small number of concerns who feel that fair play consists of maximum profit regardless of the value of service performed or product sold."

He said he would dedicate himself to the implementation of effective legislation to minimize this practice, pointing out that the legislation would not supersede the authority of the district attorney in clear-cut cases involving fraud. The legislation would, however, provide an authority to hear the many, not so clear, complaints consumers often have and to recommend action where appropriate to the district attorney.

Dye specifically would recommend the creation of a six-man commission with its membership equally divided between businessmen and consumers. They would serve on a non-paid basis.

Dye suggested that the commission publish a list of qualified service firms. The burden, he said, will be placed initially on local governments to submit to the commission recommended listings.

He also suggests the formation of service industry associations similar in nature to professional societies. Industries will also be asked to assist in maintaining qualified service listings.

Dye said he would also introduce, to the legislature, a bill requiring honest in-packaging legislation, specifically requiring the entire contents of the package to be represented by the visible portion and shelf-life coding for perishable foods to be presented in such a way that it is understandable by the consumer.

His fifth suggestion called for the news media to devote a percentage of its public service time to presenting consumer information to county residents.

He also asks that there be continued monitoring of services performed to insure compliance to consumer protection legislation.

Dye said the implementation of the legislation can be handled in such a way that there will be no additional burden placed on taxpayers.
